

A melody that led to lies.

A song that led to love.

From Kotomi Aoki's bestselling manga series "Kanojo Wa Uso Wo Aishisugiteru"

The Liar and His Lover

At the beginning, I had no feelings for her whatsoever.

It was all lies.

But even if I was a habitual liar, she said I was an “honest person.”

She smiles and pretends that she doesn't notice.

I never stood a chance.

Two of Kotomi Aoki's best-selling comics “Boku wa Imouto ni Koi o Suru” (I'm In Love With My Sister) and “Boku No Hatsukoi o Kimi Ni Sasagu” (I Give My First Love To You) have been adapted to film. Now, her new manga series “Kanojo Wa Uso Wo Aishisugiteru” (The Girl Who Loved Lies) which has already sold over 2.9 million copies (11 volumes to date) is also slated for the big screen. The protagonist, Aki Ogasawara, will be played by one of Japan's leading drama and film talents, Takeru Sato. This will be his first love story. Members of Aki's popular band, CRUDE PLAY, include up and coming stars such as Shohei Miura. The heroine, Riko Koeda will be played by Sakurako Ohara, a fresh, new talent who was selected from an audition pool of over 5,000.

The director of the film is Norihiro Koizumi, who also directed “Taiyo No Uta” (Song of the Sun), a heartrending love story in which Koizumi cast the new vocal sensation YUI in the leading role. Koizumi moved audiences with a climactic singing scene featuring YUI. The musical numbers in “Kanojo Wa Uso Wo Aishisugiteru” were produced by Seiji Kameda, ex-bassist of the band Tokyo Jihen. The collaborative efforts of this dynamic cast and crew will bring the ultimate love story to life.

Their love song will give you the courage to fall in love...

<Story>

Aki Ogasawara is the creative talent behind the popular band “CRUDE PLAY.” He quit the band just before their debut, but continues to write their music. But lately, he's been disenchanted with the music business and bored with himself.

On a whim, he starts up a conversation with a total stranger, Riko Koeda, a high school student and a die-hard CRUDE PLAY fan.

“Do you believe in love at first sight?”

With no idea who he really is, Riko falls in love with Aki and his song.

Aki begins dating Riko but keeps his CRUDE PLAY identity a secret...

But everything changes when, by sheer coincidence, Soichiro Takagi, producer of CRUDE PLAY and female pop diva Mari, discovers Riko and her schoolmates Yuichi Kimijima and Sota Yamazaki playing music on the street, and decides to promote them as a new indie band “MUSH & CO.”

Riko is a rare, gifted singer with a voice unlike any other.

Will Aki and Riko's romance stand a chance in the glamorous world of music?

Directed by Norihiro Koizumi | Cast: Takeru Sato, Sakurako Ohara, Shohei Miura
December 14, 2013 | <http://kanouso-movie.com/>

International Sales by PONY CANYON INC.
Shinji Sakoda | +81-(0)80-3368-7414 | sakoda@ponycanyon.co.jp